

Bandhani

Jodhpur-born ethnic wear brand (2019, Nai Sarak — Rajasthan's largest ethnic outlet).

Women's ethnic wear — bandhej, kurtis, Anarkalis, gowns & lehengas Prepared for Bandhani | The Ethnic Store Prepared by Sage Media

02 THE BRIEF

What we heard.

Straight from the conversation — the inputs this plan is built on.

NOTE 01

Jodhpur-born ethnic-wear brand — started 2019 at Nai Sarak, Rajasthan's largest ethnic outlet

NOTE 02

Three stores running (Jodhpur Nai Sarak, Sardarpura + Ahmedabad); two new stores launching — one in Ahmedabad, second city TBC

NOTE 03

Wants styling-led content — lookbooks, drape & styling reels, not just product posts

NOTE 04

Core audiences: Gujarati & Rajasthani women — content should speak their language

NOTE 05

Already has a 137K-follower Instagram base and a Shopify store shipping to US & Canada

NOTE 06

Scope: social media + influencer & UGC + PR around the new store launches

Who we win.

22-45 · BRIDE & FAMILY

The Wedding Shopper

Shopping the full occasion wardrobe — lehengas, gowns, family sets. Decides in-store; discovers on Instagram.

25-40 · GUJARATI / RAJASTHANI

The Festive Dresser

Navratri, Diwali, weddings every season. Saves styling reels, wants 'how do I wear this' content in her language.

NRI · US & CANADA

The Diaspora Daughter

Heritage-proud, buys bandhej online for festivals abroad — the Shopify store already ships to her.

Top players — and the doors they leave open.

BRAND	WHAT THEY DO WELL	WHERE THEY FALL SHORT
Biba	National scale, mall presence, big festive campaigns	Mass-produced feel — no regional bandhej authenticity
Fabindia	Craft credibility and deep trust	Premium-priced, muted styling, skews older
Libas	Online-first value, marketplace dominance	Thin offline presence, generic designs, no heritage story
Soch	Occasion-wear breadth, strong retail	Weaker in West India, little creator-led content
Asopalav (Ahmedabad)	Landmark bridal destination in Gujarat	Heavy bridal price point, dated digital & social presence

What the market does — and doesn't.

The category does well

- Big festive campaign spends & celebrity faces
- Wide marketplace + mall distribution
- Large-format destination stores
- Polished catalogue-style photography

Where it falls short

- Regional heritage (bandhej) told generically — no authentic Rajasthan-Gujarat voice
- Almost no styling / how-to-wear content — feeds are catalogues
- Vernacular (Gujarati, Marwari) content barely exists
- UGC & community rarely activated — customers never become the content
- Store launches happen quietly — no PR moments

10 THE ADVANTAGE

MOVE 01

Own the bandhej heritage story — a real Jodhpur landmark, not a label

MOVE 02

Styling-first content engine: lookbooks, drape reels, 'one kurti, three ways'

MOVE 03

Speak Gujarati & Marwari — vernacular reels and voiceovers the majors won't do

MOVE 04

Turn 3→5 store launches into PR + influencer moments

MOVE 05

Make customers the models — try-on UGC from the stores every week

11 POSITIONING

One line to own.

POSITIONING

"Bandhani — Rajasthan's ethnic-wear landmark, now styling Gujarat. Heritage bandhej, styled for today."

12 BRAND AUDIT

Presence & perception today.

WEBSITE

Shopify store is live with US & Canada shipping — but thin: no styling content or lookbooks, no reviews, minimal brand story, pricing hidden on landing. Quick wins: styling galleries, store pages with maps, festive edits, review capture.

SOCIAL

@bandhani_officeal has a strong 137K base with 3.2K posts — but the feed is product-catalogue heavy. Shift to styling reels, vernacular voiceovers, store vlogs and a UGC hashtag; the audience is already there, the format isn't.

LOCALLY LOVED, UNDER-TOLD ONLINE

What the market feels

A known Jodhpur landmark with warm local press (CityShor coverage) and loyal store footfall; online reviews are sparse and the digital story lags the offline reputation — a perception gap content can close fast.
